Seasonable Hints

Number Eight

Every farmer and land owner is desirous of killing the noxious weeds on his land. Weeds mean waste and the sooner the land is rid of them the sooner the soil is built up to the highest efficiency in crop production. Soil improvement means better crops and more money per acre. For Summerfallowing and weed killing you can not find a better implement than the International Stiff Tooth cultivator.

As a weed killer, soil builder and crop producer it stands without equal.

Go over your stubble the first thing in the spring and loosen the dirt up. Later on before seeding run over your summerfallow and kill the small weeds just starting.

These cultivators are equipped with any size teeth desired.

Canada's Railway Problem

Canada has a goodly number of problems awaiting solution on her hands at present, but it is doubtful if any one presents greater difficulties, or is fraught with such danger to the country if not solved, than the National Railways. The annual deficit is so staggering—amounting to almost as much as the total revenue of the Dominion only a comparatively few years before the war—and is increasing rather than diminishing, notwithstanding the heavy advances in passenger and freight rates, that the people have real cause for concern.

Nothing is to be gained now by trying to saddle the responsibility for policies which have resulted in the present deplorable situation, as many party politicians are persisting in endeavoring to do. Each of the two political parties which have guided the national policies of Canada in the past have a share of that responsibility to carry. Both inaugurated policies and encouraged the building of thousands of miles of at present unprofitable lines, no doubt with the best intentions and in an honest and sincere desire to develop the vast resources of the Dominion. Perhaps, not least of all, the people are themselves to blame because they demanded the construction of these lines, and approved and supported the Governments which provided for them.

It is no use crying over spilt milk. The situation exists, the problem has been created, intensified and made the more difficult because of the war. It must now be faced and a solution found.

That solution is not to be found in political bickerings, but in a united and patriotic determination to get at the rock bottom facts. When a man is desperately sick, the first important thing is a thorough diagnosis of the case, and, if it is discovered that a severe operation is necessary, to apply the knife with courage and determination. The same thing holds true of the National Railways. If there is mismanagement, waste and extravagance, it must be cut out; if there is a lack of good judgment shown in financial management, or in the operation of the road, there must be improvement brought about without loss of time; if the service given the public is not such as to merit confidence and attract business which ought to be had, then the service must be improved and made to command public support.

But it is becoming more and more apparent that these things alone will not have the effect of completely wiping out the annually recurring deficits. First and foremost, all such needed reforms must be effected, but there must be something even more constructive in order to build up the National Railways. To state it concisely, the Federal Government, assisted by all the Provincial Governments, must bring into effect policies that will have the effect of building up Canada and thus build up the National Railways. In other words, the most far-seeing policies must be evolved to encourage and speed up the development for use of the natural resources of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Only through the development of our resources can business be created in enormous volume to provide that increase in traffic which will put the railways upon a firm financial foundation. Increases in rates, up to a certain point, may produce more revenue, but raised beyond that point and the effect is loss of revenue because of an even greater loss of traffic. It is open to question whether railway rates have not already been increased beyond the point where they are operating to increase revenue, but are rather adding to the debit side of the railway ledger.

The statement will hardly be challenged that, at the present time, the Federal Parliament is doing little or nothing towards developing the rich natural resources of the Dominion. Rather it is "marking time" on the question. Ontario, with its development of the hydro system, and Quebec, with its progressive Provincial policies for better highways and scientific agricultural development, are doing more for the enrichment of Canada today by the utilization of natural resources than anything the Federal Parliament is attempting. The development of the natural resources of these Western Provinces is largely at a standstill, while Federal and Provincial authorities debate the question of ownership and control of those resources. The Provinces cannot proceed to develop them because they have no control over them; the Federal Government is not doing so, pending a decision as to the terms and conditions of transfer of such resources to the Provinces.

In the meantime, untold wealth lies dormant, and thousands of miles of railway are hungering for traffic they cannot get because it does not exist because of non-development of the resources of the country through which the railways operate. Yet they must operate even though it be at a loss because people have located, few in number though they may be, along these railways and they must be served with mails and the means of transportation for themselves and such few products as they have to ship out and such supplies as they require to bring in.

The Key Industry

Of Highest Importance That The Agriculturist's Occupation Should Be Made Profitable.

The agriculturist is the one man in the cosmic scheme of things whom society cannot afford to see "lose out" on his job. He is pre-eminently the "key industry" that must be kept going though the rest of the world is temporarily obliged to shut up shop.

It is, therefore, of the highest importance that the agriculturist's occupation should be made as consistently profitable as it is possible for governmental policy and human prevention to make it. To stabilize his calling in this respect is to take a long step toward the stabilization of world industry—the supreme need today of our sadly shattered civilization. —Detroit Free Press.

YOUNG LADIES, READ THIS

If you are bothered with pimples, rashes and ugly blotches on your face, if your complexion is sallow, it's an evidence that you require Dr. Hamilton's Pills to tone up the blood. One of these splendid regulating pills makes a complexion like peach blossoms soon become rosy, eyes brighten, you again look the picture of health, lost confidence restored. You use Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c at all dealers or The Catarrhose Co., Montreal.

It is an odd coincidence that King George and his four sons, the Prince of Wales, Prince Albert, Prince Henry and Prince George, were all born on a Saturday.

NEW STRENGTH FOR VICTIMS OF ANAEMIA

Loss of Strength Follows When the Blood Becomes Thin.

Anaemia is the medical term for thin, watery blood. The sufferer loses strength, becomes short of breath and complains of palpitation of the heart after the slightest exertion, such as walking up stairs. The lightest task becomes a burden. There is a loss of ambition, the victim loses weight and as the disease progresses the appetite is affected, color fades from cheeks and lips and fainting spells may result.

Anaemia is not a disease that corrects itself, and if unchecked it progresses steadily. But it can be combated by good food, fresh air and a proper tonic for the blood. As the blood becomes rich and red under this treatment, the symptoms disappear as in the case of Miss Evelyn Joyce, Westville, N.S., whose mother says: "Almost from infancy my daughter was very delicate, and was often under the doctor's care. As her father had died of consumption my friends feared she would fall a victim to that dread disease. As the years went by and she was merging into womanhood I began to fear that I would lose her. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I could soon see a change for the better. For the next three years, at intervals, she took the pills, always with the best of results. Now at the age of sixteen she is a fine healthy girl, and I never tire of telling those who see the wonderful change in her condition that she owes it to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Miss Joyce herself says: "It gives me pleasure to confirm the statements made by my mother. Since using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I have gained in weight, and from a sickly girl, suffering from headaches, dizziness and a languid feeling, I am now as well as other girls of my age, and I owe it all to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or by mail, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Nova Scotia Apples.

During the month of February 106,993 barrels of apples were shipped from Halifax, Nova Scotia, principally to the British Isles. This brings the total shipment of the season to 839,606 barrels which is almost double that for the same period last season when 432,825 barrels were shipped. The season's shipment may possibly reach the million mark.

Big Berry Crop in B. C.

Production Expected to be More Than Fifty Per Cent. Over Last Year.

Five hundred freight cars will be required to move the 1921 berry crop of British Columbia, according to the estimates of the British Columbia Berry Growers' Association. This means a production of approximately 2,500 tons of small fruits. Production is expected to be more than fifty per cent. over last year, when the crop brought in $1,000,000, there being about 2,800 acres under this cultivation. The newly formed association will endeavor to enlarge the market for British Columbia berries.

Miller's Worm Powders will clear the stomach and bowels of worms, so that the child will no more be troubled by their ravages. The Coronation Convention of the United Farmers of Alberta is gone down into history and is now a thing of the past nothing very much out of the ordinary was done at this Convention, but this meeting goes to prove that the farmers mean business. They carried on this convention without any help from the outside, or any help from the Central Office with the exception of the notices calling the convention. The Coronation band enlivened the the proceedings at the start and after that the Convention got down to business.

The first business was the election of the scrutineer committee, then the question of pooling the rates came up and it was finally decided to have all delegates participate in the pool. The result was, all delegates paid 95 cents transportation charges. The usual vote on prohibition came up and of course carried unanimously, and, by the way, I saw plenty of farmers that voted for prohibition walk out and buy their bottle at $7 per, we wonder when the people will forget this hypocrisy and come out in the open and face this issue squarely. The way it is being carried on now is a disgrace to our so called civilization. The man who really wants it for medicinal purposes cannot get it unless he has a pocket full of money, and in addition it is degrading on of the most honourable professions

No candidates were nominated at this convention, and the following were elected to carry on the work this coming year

President H. Wilson of Federal Vice Pres. C. C. Wager, Mrs. Dowler, Mrs. Peterson. Secretary E. G. Gardener. Directors West Div. H. Sheardown and Mrs. Comeron Central Div. C. C. Wilson and Mrs. Outhbert. East Div. J. McKay and lady to be chosen.

In passing we may remark that only seven delegates were in attendance from the country east of Consort to the boundary. If farmers want anything you will have to get after it in better style than that.

"It was me fired the schooner," said Amos.

"You?" cried the Colonel. "He was as hired me to do it," said Amos. "—Synthe did. And he intended as he'd pay me fer doin' fer old Noah, and I did."

"No, you didn't," cried Boy; "Noah is alive and well."

"Then I ain't got no murder 'gainst me," cried Broadbrook, "an' they can't hang me, kin they?"

Hallbut stood shifting his lip, his shaggy brows twitching. At last he raised his eyes slowly to Boy's.

"See here," he said at length, "I can't just make thing thing out. I guess I've been making a mistake and I guess you have, too, Boy. I've done you no wrong, neither you nor yours. And I know now that you and yours have done me no wrong. I came over here purposely to demand that you give yourself up for burning my boat, and I'm glad I came. I want to shake hands with you, if you'll do it, and thank you for saving my life. Then I want to go down to Bushwhacker's Place and shake hands all round."

The big man's face was working, and Boy found it difficult to keep his own voice steady as he wrung the Colonel's hand and said:

"You won't find any of us hard to get acquainted with, Colonel. We're a queer lot in some ways, but I guess we all know real men. You come along with me and I'll show you."

"What are we going to do with this crazed wretch?"

Hallbut pointed down at Broadbrook.

Boy did not answer at once. He stood looking at Amos thoughtfully.

"What made you try to kill the Colonel?" he asked sternly.

"Synthe and Watson told me he was goin' to set the hounds after me," growled the man, "an' I thort if I got his horse I would get across the border too quick fer 'em. Oh, I've been in hell, I tell you; shut up in the dark for three long months. I guess I was crazy."

"Here are Declute and Peeler," cried Boy. "We'll let them bring Amos back with them. You and I'll go on, Colonel Hallbut, if you're ready."

The Bushwhackers came running up, their faces showing their surprise. In a few words Boy explained everything, and leaving the two men to look after the captive, they passed down the trail, the Colonel riding and Boy leading the way. As they passed into the open of Totherside the Colonel pointed to the mill.

"That's got to come out of there," he said, "the saw-mill going to be any more miles of schoolhouses in these parts until you people want them. Then you're going to get what you want."

Boy did not answer. He could not answer. But there was a crushing, choking joy in his heart. They stabbed the horse in widow Ross's barn. The place was strangely silent. The Rosses were over at Bushwhacker's Place.

The ice in the creek was breaking up and running out fast. The creek, fed by the rivulets of the wood, was swollen now so as to make crossing by boat comparatively easy. This accomplished, Boy led Colonel Hallbut up to the house.

"Come in," he invited.

The Colonel stepped inside and bowed low to the body of astonished people who watched him. Boy waved his hand for silence, then he stated the true facts of the case.

"Now," he cried, "let every man shake hands with Colonel Hallbut." They surged about the big man joyfully. Hands were extended, and the Colonel with a laugh made as though to speak, but, instead, he stood gazing across at a tall girl clad in soft deerskin skirt and jacket. She was gazing back at him from eyes he had known long years ago in that playground far back.

"So like!" he whispered. "Same face, same hair, same great, glorious eyes!"

He leaned against the wall, trembling.

"Phoebe," he said at length, and held out his arms.

Gloss leaned toward him. "That was my mother's name," she said. "Did—did you know my mother, sir? See, this is her likeness in this little locket about my neck."

She ran over to him and he took the locket from her hand and opened it. For a brief moment he gazed on the face of the little picture, then he raised it to his lips.

"Little girl," he said simply, "I did know your mother; she was my dear sister."

Then, with a dry sob, the man clasped her in his shaking arms. She stroked his gray hair with her hand, her soul clinging him and clinging to him, and as she looked into his face she said softly:

"I'm so glad, so very, very glad. I had so much to cry, you came and now I have you—"

The Colonel attempted to speak. The tears were streaming down his cheeks. Paisley walked from the room blowing his nose on his red handkerchief. Peeler, his back to the others, whistled a tuneless dirge nook looking through the window. As for the women, they were one and all behaving like foolish women must behave on such an occasion. Only Boy stood unmoved, watching, thinking, waiting. It came at last.

"All I have in the world belongs to you now, little girl," said Hallbut gently. "I give it all to you for the sunshine you have let into my gloomy life. You will never leave me again, now I have found you, Gloss, will you?"

Then Boy went out into his dark-blue open and sought his boots again. Thank God he was strong and able to fight. It was all over now. This tiny found dream of happiness. His hope was denied, buried and put away forever. But even a grave may feel the warmth of sunshine. The sunshine of a girl's new happiness was warm in his grave. Boy dug that afternoon alone in the awakening forest. It is the nature of a hurt wild thing to creep back into the dark. He had his wounds to die alone. When Boy returned that night his scar was hidden, and no one guessed that he had fought and conquered for love's sake.

CHAPTER XXX.

The Dawn of a New Day.

Colonel Hallbut did not return to St. Thomas that night as had been intended. Indeed, in his great and newly found happiness he forgot that he had cautioned Dick, his man, to come looking for him in case he did not return within a certain time. And then the great-hearted Bushwhackers absolutely would not let him go so soon, now they knew him as he was.

"God bless us," laughed the Colonel, "it's so human of us to miss the worth-while things that might be secured by simply reaching out for them. Here you good people have been for years and over there I have been for years—lonely, God knows, and hungry for such companionship as I am now enjoying. And to think—to think that I have not understood until now!"

So the Colonel stayed at Big McTavish's and all the Bushwhackers came over in the evening to make merry, and make merry they did, for had they not reason to be glad?

And after the neighbors had gone Big McTavish sat with Hallbut before the fire and they talked of Gloss's mother until the purple glow of another spring morning bled its way

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupefy the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself without consulting a physician.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Have You Tried It?

Everybody has read the above headline; how many believe it? Have you a little one in the home, and has that dear little mite when its stomach was not just right felt the comforts that come with the use of Fletcher's Castoria? You have heard the cry of pain. Have you heard them cry for Fletcher's Castoria? Try it.

Just help baby out of its trouble tomorrow with a taste of Castoria. Watch the difference in the tone of the cry, the look in the eye, the wiggle in the tiny fingers. The transformation is complete—from pain to pleasure. Try it.

You'll find a wonderful lot of information about Baby in the booklet that is wrapped around every bottle of Fletcher's Castoria.

through the fragrant wood-mists. The Colonel sat with bowed head while McTavish told the story of the brave little woman he had known in Arizona; how she had endeared the rough cattlemen to her; how unwavering and unselfish she had been; and finally how she had intended to come to live with his family in the new Canadian Wild, and how they had looked for her coming in vain.

At the conclusion of his narrative the Colonel sat caressing a little gold locket. The tears were running down his scamed cheeks.

"I used to think that God made fewer noble men and women than He did dogs," he said huskily. "But I don't think that now. He made you and your wife, McTavish. I can't thank you for what you have done. I know my thanks don't count anyway, and Mac, if I were asked to choose between this new happiness I've lately found and all my 'ands and money, I'd know which I would choose!"

McTavish smiled. "A bush-lost—believe that best and most lastin' joys are always close to use and easy found," he said.

Hallbut arose and paced to and fro across the room.

"McTavish," he said abruptly, "I know the man who sent little Gloss to you."

Big McTavish looked up quickly. "You do? Then, who is he?"

Paisley told me to-night that Watson had reminded him of somebody, and only lately did he recollect who. Paisley says that Watson's real name is Watts, and Watts has five thousand dollars of my sister's money. He stole it, McTavish, stole it from a dead mother and a helpless baby, I'll tell you the story."

Hallbut sat dazed and related the story which had been told him by the Sandwich fisherman.

"What are you goin' to do to him, Colonel?" asked McTavish after Hallbut had finished.

The Colonel drew in his breath quickly. His eyes were on the tall, dark-faced girl who had just entered like a breath of spring. The set look faded from his face and the flashing eyes grew tender as he held out his arms. She came to him and patted his face caressingly.

"I heard what you said about Watson, Uncle, dear, let's forget all about Watson. Let's just be happy now, all of us."

"But, child—" commenced the Colonel.

"How much am I worth to you?" she asked, throwing her arms about his neck.

"All the world, Gloss," he answered. "If he had not sent me away with Noah you would never have found me," she whispered.

"It's true, it's true," cried Hallbut. "Strange I didn't see it that way before."

"Then you won't punish him—nor anybody, will you?" she pleaded. "—not even Amos Broadbrook."

"But Broadbrook burned my boat," cried the Colonel. "It is best to put him in jail, dear, where he can do no more harm."

"Amos couldn't live in jail," said the girl, "for he's of the woods. He'll die if you cage him up."

Hallbut gathered her close to him. "Ah, child, but you're like your little mother," he laughed. "She was always pleading for the trapped and downed things, and, egad, she always got her way with me, as you will be bound to get yours."

"Then you'll not punish him," she cried gladly. "Oh, that is so good of you!"

She darted away and Hallbut looked at Big McTavish and shook his head. "I don't know but that was a mistake on my part," he said. "Those fellows deserve punishment if ever men did. They as much as bribed Broadbrook to burn my boat, and I guess he was after me, too. He tried to steal dear little Gloss, and intended trying to make you good people believe I did it, and by pretending to be in sympathy with you get possession of the deeds of your properties."

"The door was thrown open and in came the boy. He was panting as from a race."

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Peasey Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered with irregular menstruation, was weak and nervous, and I had run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains, so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy and I seemed to be smothering. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of medicines and have been treated by physicians but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. P. Peasey, 387 King St., Toronto, Ontario.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Peasey did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health.

Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton
Summer 1875.

By O-G-E-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

Well, I at last had reached a real plain fort, and though I headed this article Fort Ellis it has taken some time to get there. But my readers must understand when an old-timer sits down to recall old events, reminiscences pour over him like a flood, and he is apt to wander from his subject, so please forgive me when I do this, and don't expect too much from the "Men Who Showed the Way."

Fort Ellis was a thoroughly well-built post for defence against hostile Indians, having a sixteen foot palisade with corner bastions and a walk around near the top of the wall made it impervious to savage attack. It was very picturesquely situated on the high bank of the Assiniboine River and commanded a beautiful view on all sides. Chief Factor Archie McDonald, a stern old martinet, was in charge. His wife was a sister of the well-known Sheriff Inkster and I have pleasant recollections of her kindness to the young clerk. My rather dreaded interview with the chief was over, and I was told to make myself useful in the trading store until such time as council decided my fate. Then it might be James Bay or Hudson's Bay, Mackenzie River or New Caledonia, but what did we care, the Great West was before us and adventure filled our souls.

Shortly after my arrival some very unwelcome visitors arrived from across the American boundary in the shape of some three hundred Sioux Indians. They had been fighting with the Yankees as usual and retreated into British territory. Fierce looking chaps, simply clad in a breech-clout and buffalo robe, well armed and numbers of white scalps amongst them. One old devil had several of which, judging by the long hair, had belonged to white women. But what interested one of the young McKay's (my fellow clerk) and myself was the fact of two white girls, both wives of the old interpreter, who were evidently of Scandinavian birth, having fair hair and blue eyes. Poor things, they were Sioux in everything but their birth, and had evidently been stolen as babies, probably in the great Minnesota massacre, where no doubt their parents had been killed. They were certainly under twenty years of age and quite attractive in appearance. Mr. Interpreter, however, kept a very careful eye on them, so we had no opportunity even for a mild flirtation, and then we neither of us could speak a word of Sioux.

These Indians demanded provisions from the company, as they were living on dogs and gophers with an occasional pony for a feast. But the chief would not give them, as they had neither furs or robes to trade. Finally he gave them some work in building a long causeway to a hay swamp, for which they were to receive pay daily in flour and pemican. Several of the men bossed the job, but being warriors they considered it infra dig to work, so set the women at it, and famous workers they were. Every night it was McKay's duty and mine to weigh out to each woman her individual pay in provisions, and there being a number of them this took some time.

Chief Factor McDonald had to leave on a short inspection trip, and before starting left strict orders with his second in command to be extremely careful in dealing with the Sioux, and this was needed, for we mustered only seven white men and of them there were three hundred, well named by the Kitchi-Moko-mons (Indian name for Yankees, meaning Big Knives), the Tigers of the Plains. Fort Ellis was the headquarters of the large Swan River district with many posts, and one evening as the Indian workers had come in for their pay, a clerk rode in from an outpost, unfortunately under the influence of liquor. He had that failing when drink was available, and on this occasion he had met some miners on the trail who were too generous with some alcohol. Most of the Sioux women had been paid off, and one of these (a chief's wife) rather a handsome young creature, was standing in the square, not doubt waiting for her friends. Mr. — had tied up his horse, and seeing this woman alone reeled over to her, grabbed her by the heavy cloth skirt, pulled this over her head, and began to whip her bare person with his riding whip. Some of the other women ran to her help and managed to loose his hold. By this time, hearing the row, we had run out from the shop. The woman's face was a sight. She certainly looked murder and sudden death, while pouring out a torrent of Sioux words. Then with the others, away they went running for the Sioux encampment, giving what we knew afterwards to be the Sioux war cry. Out came the men like a swarm of bees, grabbing whatever weapon came to hand, her husband being prominent. As she met him, no doubt she told him of the dreadful insult (for there is no greater crime with an Indian either male or female than exposing their nakedness). Mr. Clark, in his drunken fashion, had ran after the women, while the company's men who came hurrying up, were endeavoring to get the big gates closed. It was too late. Fortunately we had two old timers who had often wintered on the plains and they grabbed Mr. — and hid him in a safe spot. Within a few moments the inside of the square was full of a yelling mob of armed and naked Sioux giving their thrilling war cry, "Yallalala." One most ferocious looking devil grabbed me by the hair and swung me off my feet, while his tomahawk was playing circles round my head. Goudie Harper, one of our old plainsmen, had told us on no account to resist, but to just put our hands down and take it. This I did, and finally some older heads amongst them came in and began to quiet the young warriors who were evidently thirsting for blood, especially for Mr. —, who was the cause of the trouble.

Pleading for Peace in Ireland

Archbishop of Canterbury's Protest Against Reprisals Is Endorsed By Non-Conformists.

London.—Endorsing the Archbishop of Canterbury's recent protest in the House of Lords against reprisals in Ireland, nine bishops and heads of the principal non-conformist churches in Great Britain have sent a letter to the Prime Minister and Irish Secretary, pleading for peace in Ireland.

"The present policy," says the letter, "exposes us to misunderstanding and hostile criticism even of the friendliest of the world's nations."

The signatories include the moderator of the Scottish United Free Church, and the chairman of the Congregational and Baptist Unions of Scotland, the Wesleyan, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches and the Society of Friends.

Veterans Make Request

Full Army Pay Is Now Urged For Jobless Soldiers.

Ottawa.—Payment by the Government of army pay and allowances to all unemployed ex-service men, until such time as they are offered work commensurate with the physical condition, was urged upon the special re-establishment committee by J. F. Marsh, representing the Grand Army of United Veterans. Mr. Marsh declared that men were starving in Canada because no work was available for them. They did not want doles or charity, and the Government should provide them with means of subsistence.

B.C. Liquor Control Act.

Victoria.—The new Liquor Control Act will be brought into force on or about May 1, Attorney-General J. W. DeB. Farris announces.

A Friend To the Aged!

When men and women get past middle life, their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

The heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves more or less unsteady.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and here and there evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They make the heart beat strong and regular, brace up and invigorate the nervous system, improve the memory, and impart a sense of buoyancy to the entire system.

Mrs. James Perry, Retlaw, Alta., writes:—"Some months ago I was not feeling well, my heart bothered me quite a lot, and my whole system seemed out of order. I sent and got two boxes of your pills. I took them a few days and my heart was changed there was in me, and when I had taken the two boxes I felt so much better I quit them. Now I take them at intervals, and am fine although 72 years of age."

U.S. Claims Right to Participate In Peace Settlements

That It Did Not Join League of Nations Is Thought To Be No Barrier.

Washington.—Failure of the United States to ratify the treaty of Versailles, will not be allowed to detract from that country's right to participate in peace settlements, Secretary Hughes declared in notes addressed to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. The note to Japan differed from the other three, in that it referred more specifically to the Japanese mandate over the Island of Yap.

All four notes reiterated the contention that the United States had sacrificed no rights in the peace settlement by reason of its unwillingness to join the League of Nations.

"The fact that the United States has not ratified the treaty of Versailles," the note said, "cannot detract from rights to which the United States is already entitled. It is hardly necessary to suggest that a treaty to which the United States is not a party, could affect those rights."

Continuing, Secretary Hughes said, "As the United States did not enter into this council or to any treaty relating to the subject, this Government is unable to understand upon what ground it was thereafter attempted to confer the mandate without the agreement of the United States. It is manifest that the League of Nations was without authority to bind the United States, and that the confirmation of the mandate in question and the definition of its terms by the Council of the League of Nations in December, 1920, cannot be regarded as having effect with respect to the United States."

Vindicates Transcontinental

Diversion of Traffic Now Going Through U.S. Is Sought By Senate.

Ottawa.—The Senate discussed the National Transcontinental Railway and the diversion of Canadian grain through United States ports. Although no definite action was taken in the latter regard, there was general approval of the necessity of immediate investigation into such diversion.

The subject arose in continued debate on the export trade of Quebec. Senator Lorne Webster said that the contract between the National Transcontinental and the City of Quebec, made in 1904 and confirmed in 1910 was unfulfilled.

The Transcontinental had reduced the distance between Quebec and Winnipeg by 200 miles and had also reduced the grades. Since 1916, however, not a bushel of grain had come over the line to Quebec.

The water and rail rate from Winnipeg to New York was 33¢ cents per bushel and all-rail from Winnipeg to Quebec was 36¢ cents.

In recent years there has been shipped from the west 1,096,000,000 bushels of grain and of this amount 518,000,000 bushels had gone via New York. Of the remainder, a great deal was manufactured into flour, leaving only a small quantity to export through Canadian ports. This discrimination was unfair, as the Canadian water routes had been made perfectly safe by aids to navigation. The matter called for immediate investigation.

Senator J. P. B. Casgrain said that the debate vindicated the policy of the construction of the Transcontinental Railway. That railway had shortened the mileage between Winnipeg and Quebec by 220 miles and shortened the time of travel by 14 hours, and was one of the greatest railways in the world. It should be utilized to a greater extent and there should be less talk about the "crazy scheme of deepening the St. Lawrence channel."

Calgary Teachers' Strike Is Off.

Calgary.—The Calgary teachers will not strike. Another long discussion ended in a decision to accept the offer of the school board for advances totalling $40,000, under protest. The teachers had previously agreed to accept a 50-50 compromise, which would have brought increase totalling $87,000.

Turkish Cruelties

Understood that Britain Will Make An Official Protest Regarding Atrocities.

London.—An official British protest is understood to be in prospect as a result of alleged Turkish cruelties and atrocities on Greek and Armenian Christians in Asia Minor. Terrorism is reported to prevail in Caesarea, when many Greek and Armenian Christians were killed.

In official circles, it is stated, a number of charges and counter-charges from the Greeks and Turks have been received in British quarters throughout the period of hostilities. The Greek charges are said to have been sustained and the British protest will be made direct to the Turks.

Trouble Over Catholic Unions

Member for Quebec East Says That Minister of Labor Has Been Unfair.

Ottawa.—Demands for the resignation of Hon. G. D. Robertson, minister of labor, were made during a debate on the subject of Catholic National Unions, precipitated in the House of Commons on a motion to go into supply, by Ernest Lapointe, member for Quebec East.

Mr. Lapointe declared that the minister of labor had been unfair in his treatment of the delegates from the national unions, and that he had discriminated against them in favor of the internationals. The National Union had asked for representation in the forthcoming building trades conference, and not only had that been refused, but the deputation had been informed by the minister that their unions were dangerous and were liable to cause racial and religious strife.

To Adjust Park Act.

Victoria, B.C.—To adjust administration matters between the Dominion and Provincial Governments, George R. Naden, deputy minister of lands for British Columbia, has left for Ottawa.

Mr. Naden will take up the settlement of the situation caused by the Banff-Windermere Park Act and several matters dealing with titles to mineral claims in the railway belt.

Canada's Fuel Problem.

Vancouver.—Dealing with Canada's fuel problem in its national and international aspects during an address before the University of British Columbia, Arthur V. White, consulting engineer of the Commission of Conservation of Canada, strongly urged that special effort be made to secure increased storage of coal in the summer months.

Gigantic Irrigation Project

Irrigation Scheme to Cost $7,000,000 Is Financed For Alberta.

Calgary.—Word has been received from the London offices of the Canada Land and Irrigation Company, Medicine Hat, that satisfactory financial arrangements have been made for the largest construction programme for its big irrigation project, undertaken for some years. This will include construction of distribution systems for many thousands of acres served by the main ditches. This is a $7,000,000 project, which has been under way for ten years.

Canada Ratifies Protocol.

Geneva.—Canada has just signed the protocol ratifying the statutes of the International Court of Justice, her action bringing the number of states which had adhered to the court, up to twenty-eight.

U.S. Ammunition in Ireland

Discovery of an Underground Dump In Dublin.

London.—Methods by which the Sinn Feiners are receiving arms and ammunition have been disclosed by the discovery of an underground dump in Dublin. Ammunition boxes found there bear the stamp of a powder works in Massachusetts.

The boxes, the newspaper asserts, were shipped by Irish-American sympathizers who had established wireless communication between gun runners on the west coast of Ireland and in the United States.

Take Arms From Dublin Police.

Dublin.—All the arms and ammunition in possession of the Dublin Metropolitan Police have been collected by the military authorities. It is considered unlikely that they will carry arms in the future, owing to their recent disarmament at the hands of rebels.

Manna Still Falling

United States Consul Writes From Mesopotamia of Peculiar Dew.

The feeding of the children of Israel upon manna from heaven during their 40 years of wandering in the wilderness en route to the land of Canaan, as related in the Bible, is not mere poetry and does not record a miracle. This is the conviction of Oscar S. Heizer, United States consul at Jerusalem, in an official report. Consul Heizer states that manna is found now in the regions of upper Mesopotamia and Kurdistan and along the Persian frontier. It falls, he says, in the form of dew.

Immediately after falling, the manna hardens and assumes the form of a grain. Early in the morning, before the heat of the day, it is gathered.

No More Asthma. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy sounds the death knell of this trying trouble. It stops the awful choking and painful breathing. It guards against night attacks and gives renewed ability to sleep and rest the whole night long. Much is claimed for this remedy, but nothing but what can be demonstrated by a trial. If you suffer from asthma try it and convince yourself of its great value.

Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment.

A total of 50,521 men were accepted for training by the department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment from inauguration to the end of 1920, according to the annual report. Statistics compiled by the department show that 70 per cent. of the men who have graduated have been able to follow the line of their training. The number of patients treated during the past year was 23,591. In addition to these figures, outside clinics have been operated and 447,142 treatments given. The total expenditure of the department was $27,671,493.

And His Family Medicines

MOST people first knew Dr. Chase through his Receipt Book. Its reliability and usefulness made him friends everywhere.

When he put his Nerve Food, Kidney-Liver Pills and other medicines on the market they received a hearty welcome, and their exceptional merit has kept them high in the public esteem.

Take Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for example. There is no treatment to be compared to them as a means of regulating the liver, kidneys and bowels and relieving constipation, biliousness, kidney disease and indigestion.

Construction Work in West.

Contracts for building construction during January and February of this year in the western provinces totalled $5,547,300 in value compared with $3,900,900 during the first two months of 1920, $2,657,000 in 1919, $1,727,200 in 1918. The increase for this year is taken as an indication that Western Canada is handling its big programme of deferred building.

NOTHING TO EQUAL BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Georges Lefebvre, St. Zenon, Que., writes: "I do not think there is any other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets for little ones. I have used them for my baby and would use nothing else." What Mrs. Lefebvre says thousands of other mothers say. They have found by trial that the Tablets always do just what is claimed for them. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus banish indigestion, constipation, colds, colic, etc. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Electricity From the Air

Prof. Paulson Declares the Atmosphere is a Storehouse of Electricity.

Prof. Paulson, of Hamburg, declares that the atmosphere is a storehouse of electricity, and he believes that unlimited supplies of the "juice" can be extracted from that source. He suggests that balloons be used as collecting antennae. They should have metallic surface bristling with points. Sent up in groups, and connected with an aerial network of conducting wires, they would gather electricity at an elevation of three hundred yards and transmit it by wire to suitably equipped stations on the earth.

Thus could be drawn out of the sky a continuous high-frequency current which might be employed for all sorts of useful purposes, including electro-chemistry and electro-metallurgy. Energy thus obtained would be much cheaper than what coal could be carried on in desert areas and over lakes, so as not to occupy territory valuable for agriculture or other purposes.

To my joy this herbal healing balm speedily relieved the burning irritation. Persistence banished the piles completely."

Sea Otter Returns To Alaskan Waters

Has Been Considered Extinct Along the Coast for Twenty Years.

Mail reports from the Alutian Islands state that many sea otter have migrated to the Alaskan coast from Kamchatka and the Kurile Islands of Siberia. For twenty years the sea otter has been considered extinct all along the coast of the territory, and the price for the beautiful coat is kingly. Just why the otter was found to be so abundant on the islands off the Siberian coast and not in Alaska is a puzzle.

Sentenced To Death. No Appeal Possible.

Motors and Good Roads.

Good roads mean money in the pocket of every automobile owner. They mean comfort to the body of every automobile rider. Efficiency and economy of operation pay large and certain dividends on every dollar invested in highway improvements. As these improvements are extended even the man who neither drives nor rides on the open highway will take his profit from improved transportation of farm products and more rapid and economical communication in business and industry.

The Foulard Dress Is Again in Style

By Marie Belmont.

Many charming modes are evolved from foulards. This dress of foulard reveals the effective use of ribbon as a trimming. The ground is a beautiful shade of rose and it is patterned in small designs in navy blue. The collar is made of navy blue ribbon, which is also used to outline the front and hem of the skirt. The latter is irregular in length, which is one of the distinctive features in the new frocks. The belt is a piece of navy moire ribbon. Navy ribbon in plain weave is used for the jaunty hat that gives a dashing finish to this gown.

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves' Worm-Expeller.

Board of Trade

Did Not Meet

For some reason unknown,
the Board of Trade meeting which was to have been held last Monday, failed to materia-lise. Just why this state of affairs is allowed, we cannot see. It is true there was no definite information on hand re the hospital, which was the vital question for the evening —but, there are others. We would remind members of the B. of T. that Sports Day will soon be around, and so far,
nothing has been done about it.
It is occasions like this that cause the "brain-storms" in the minds of members, and many original ideas, that would otherwise be forgotten, can be brought up for discussion and criticism.

Zedeler Quintet

Has Full House

The Zedeler Quintet has come and gone and from the general expression of opinion throughout the district seemed to have created a very favorable impression on their hearers. It is to be regretted, however, that this admirable company, keen musicians as they are, are afflicted with the same malady as the majority of good companies that come to us, and that is, the languid, incessant and supercilious grin with which they view their audience.
Personally, we think that if they would tell the audience the joke at the beginning of the programme, the air would be cleared, and less bad feeling raised.

The Big Hall was crowded, and we must congratulate the
O. N. O. Club on the splendid results to their effort.

Waiting Means Losing

Real Economy Says:

If you need a new implement this year
"Buy It."

Suppose that the use of a new implement this season would save you $100.00

How much will you lose by not buying that implement this spring?

How much will the implement really cost you if you wait until next year to buy it?

It will really cost you the market price then PLUS THE ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS LOST IN NOT HAVING THE IMPLEMENT IN USE THIS SEASON.

But--be sure you get good implements--
